Summary

I, like many others, have dabbled in many paths and trades throughout the years and have always had a special interest in technology and machines. After the COVID outbreak this past year and a great deal of thinking, I decided to leave the world of wholesale distribution and pursue a career in computer science. I have had the great pleasure of learning the ins and outs of the development and engineering profession as well as its limitless applications in our infinitely growing world.

Experience

University of Denver

April 2021/Current

Full-Stack Web Development & Software Engineering Student

I am currently enrolled in a Full-Stack Web Development Bootcamp offered through the University of Denver and have acquired an adept and adaptable knowledge of multiple machine-learning frameworks such as HTML, CSS, JS, React, MySQL, Mongo, Node, Express.js, etc. implemented through applications such as VSCode and MySQL Workbench and have started to look into other frameworks such as Angular and Python. I hope to use this experience as a gateway into a more permanent career path that will bring me challenges and rewards in the years to come.

Graybar Electric Supply

December 2019 to April 2021

Warehouse Material Handler/Forklift Operator

Responsible for the collection, quality, and quantity check of material for large volume orders shipped locally and nationwide to an array of customers. Other duties include the safe operation and maintenance of standing and sit-down forklifts, building and organizing pallets, and completion and filing of order forms and end-of-day paperwork.

After working at Graybar for approximately 9 months I was selected to join our projects team which handles much larger orders for leading electrical contractors. In this position, I am responsible for receiving a larger array of products such as light fixtures, electrical drivers, lenses, light poles, fuses, and many more components needed on multiple job sites statewide. In addition, this team organizes and locates this material to dedicated space within the warehouse for each specific project ranging anywhere from $5,000 to $7 million of equipment for each job site before it is carefully inspected and prepared for shipment each day.
